PREPARE TO ENTERTAIN VETERANS NEXT WEEK DURING G. A. R. CONVENTION HERE

Plans for the annual convention, Department of Florida Grand Army of the Republic are going forward through local committees who intend to entertain the visitors in a satisfactory manner.

Sessions of the G. A. R. will be held in their hall here, and various entertainments have been planned during the three days the sessions will last.

The Daughters of Veterans and the Women's Relief Corps will also have their sessions here next week at the same time the G. A. R. holds forth.

Every business house is requested and every householder is urged to display the flag during the three days that these sessions are going on in order that the city may have a gala appearance. Decorations of patriotic colors are urged in the places of business.

S. W. Porter, city commissioner, announces that on Friday of next week an automobile ride will be provided for the visitors and urges all who will use their car in this work to report at his office as soon as possible so that ample cars may be on hand when the time for the drive arrives. The start will be made from the Chamber of Commerce at 3:30 in the afternoon.

There will be several prominent speakers on hand for these meetings and every citizen is urged to do all possible to make the stay of all the delegates and other visitors one that they will long remember.

BUSINESS MEN AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEMBERS TO DINE TOGETHER FRIDAY

One hundred and fifty members of the Chamber of Commerce and their friends have been bidden to a banquet to be given tomorrow evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The number had to be limited to the capacity of the tables that have been provided, and because of the special program that has been provided for the occasion.

Secretary Phillips announces that special music and some fine speakers will be on hand for the occasion, and many matters of importance will be taken up during the evening.

Those who can attend are urged to get their tickets for 75c each from the secretary as early as possible.

The recent Friday evening banquet was much appreciated and was beneficial to the work of the Chamber of Commerce, which have some extensive plans for the coming year.

HOLMES CRAWFORD BUYS THE GALLATIN ELECTRIC SHOP

J. C. Gallatin this week sold to H. E. Crawford the electrical business located in the Johnson building and known as the Gallatin Electrical Co. and Mr. Crawford has already taken over the business.

Mr. Crawford had been connected with the electrical business here for some time and operates the Palm Floral Gardens also, and is well known throughout the city. Mr. Gallatin has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Peoples Bank and is also vice-president of that institution.

Mr. Gallatin in retiring wishes to thank all his friends for the fine business he has been enjoying since entering the business here several years ago.

VISITOR ENDORSES LOCAL CHAUTAUQUA OFFERS ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR BEST NAME SUBMITTED

We were most fortunate in having the Radcliffe Chautauqua. It was a rare treat to enjoy six best comedies, inspiring entertainments. A. S. Munn was fine; the dramas, composed by artists of rare ability, each conveyed an excellent moral lesson. The three lecturers were men of more than ordinary ability, and each brought messages that were soul inspiring. Such messages, "take us out of ourselves and beguile us for a time with the friendship of completer lives than our own."

St. Cloud is enjoying an era of material prosperity to which each and every citizen is deeply interested. It behooves us to see that our "spiritual and intellectual progress keeps pace with this material improvement."

The two most important factors for the spiritual, moral and intellectual welfare of any community are the Christian Church and Public School. However, unless outside educational influences are brought to us occasionally, we become narrow-minded and provincial. In no way can a more stimulating moral and intellectual influence be brought to us than through the Chautauqua Programs.

Let us work faithfully for a more successful Chautauqua in 1925 than we enjoyed in 1924.

"Where there is no vision the people perish."
 MARY E. B. DUNMEYER.

A prize of $100 in cash for the best name submitted for their new development, is offered by C. A. Blair & Co., Inc., of Kissimmee.

The development will create a beautiful residence district on the shores of Lake Tohopekaliga, beginning about a mile from Kissimmee. The contest is open to every one, and gives all an opportunity to take an interest in this new project, which is bringing in new people and business interests, and will be a valuable factor in local activities.

The contest closes April 6, 1925 at 6:00 p. m. Names mailed on that date will be accepted in the contest. A wide interest is already being shown in the contest.

FORMER ST. CLOUD PRINCIPAL LOSES FIGHT FOR LIFE CERTIFICATE

Tallahassee, March 28.—H. R. Riley, formerly connected with the school at St. Cloud, today lost his fight in the Supreme Court to force the state superintendent of public instruction to issue him a life certificate as teacher in Florida's public schools. Mr. Riley instituted mandamus proceedings last Summer in his fight, obtaining an alternative writ to which the superintendent filed a reply. Afterwards a motion was made by Riley

INSTITUTION OF NEW REBEKAH LODGE

One of the most notable and most thoroughly enjoyable events in fraternal circles of Orlando that has taken place recently occurred Friday evening March 27th when Lucerne Rebekah Lodge No. 36 was instituted in Fraternal hall by the president of the Florida State Rebekah Assembly, Miss Elizabeth Kraft of Ft. Lauderdale.

The new lodge was launched with thirty six enthusiastic and energetic members.

There was a class of eight candidates initiated by the degree staff of Benevolent Lodge No. 33 of St. Cloud, Fla. and the degree was conferred in a manner that was impressive and instructive to the candidates and also to the members of the order present.

The institutional ceremony was conducted in such a manner as can only be attained by one with a personality and executive ability such as Miss Kraft has, and will ever be remembered by those present as one of the outstanding events in fraternalism. Miss Kraft was ably assisted by Mrs. Lottie Dibble, acting as deputy warden, and Mrs. Wilhelmina Dodd, acting as deputy grand secretary.—Orlando Sentinel.

for a promissory writ requiring the certificate. The opinion of the court state superintendent to issue the life held that Riley had shown no right to such a writ.

HOLOPAW, FLA.

Working cross-word puzzle is all the go, but Holopaw has had something that's more interesting for the past few days. It looked out that Miss Louise Hess, one of the teachers in the Holopaw school and Mr. Elmer Hall had on Sunday, March 22, gone down to Haines City and had been quietly married. It was their intention to keep the secret until the close of school. But when two souls get so deliciously happy it will not keep. Try hard as they did for each to go their own way as usual, it just would not work. So finally somebody got the puzzle started and the correct answer was Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hall.

Mr. S. W. Porter and some real estate friends of St. Cloud paid Holopaw a very pleasant call on last Friday. Mr. Porter says the only thing that "jarred" the pleasure of the trip was the four miles of bad road leading into the mill.

Holopaw took a new kind of craze—of automobiles. We now have about eighty five cars and trucks in the town. That means each car should average about three trips a week to St. Cloud and Kissimmee. That means two hundred and fifty five cars per week, from Holopaw. Each car will average three passengers. That means seven hundred and sixty five people per week from Holopaw visiting these two towns. How much money will each spend while in town?

The Methodist revival that has been in progress here for the past ten days with Rev. F. P. McCall doing the preaching came to a close Sunday night. Just as the preacher was PUT SAINT CLOUD ON THE MAP!

 Osceola county is judged by its newspapers.
 Thousands of new readers are perusing The St. Cloud Tribune each week—north, south, east and west—and ALL OVER THIS COUNTY.

ready to take his text a silent figure in white robe, white cap, with a flaming cross on his breast, and the stars and stripes over his shoulder came quietly down the aisle and handed the preacher a letter, then stood at attention while the letter was read to the congregation. The letter stated the Myrtle Health stood for the kind of work the preacher was doing and was always ready to assist personally or financially in the upbuilding of churches, schools, communities, and enforcing the law. Enclosed in the letter was twenty-five dollars for the preacher. Then as the congregation stood and sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee", the silent figure passed out into the night.

Mr. T. G. Moore of the Sturges Realty Company of St. Cloud was transacting business in Holopaw this week.

The new school building is now under way and the last month of the school will be held in the new home.

Mr. T. G. Milan is now "the village cut up" sporting a new Nash Sedan.

Mr. Sam Denton has been promoted from time-keeper to assistant book-keeper. Mr. Clemmons takes his place as time-keeper.

CANADIANS BUYING LANDS IN ST. CLOUD SECTION

This week Messrs. Small & Saitner, of Toronto, Canada, have been looking over the St. Cloud section and buying five and ten acre tracts of lands that could be found for sale. Today they are to make a trip to Melbourne and down the east coast, looking for further investments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Warden were among those who started north on Tuesday after a winter in St. Cloud.

Honors So Far Evenly Divided; Candidates Prepare to Make Final Stand Before Saturday Night; Don't Wait UNTIL Next Week, Because Votes Are Greatly Reduced in Just Three Days—Campaign Closes April 11.

JUST 3 DAYS OF THE BIG VOTE SCHEDULE LEFT; TAKE ADVANTAGE NOW, IF EVER

Candidates should Not Slacken Pace One Bit, If They Expect to Finish Big in the End, Which Is Only Ten Days Off. Lowest Votes of Entire Campaign in Effect Next Week; Second Payments Are Big Things Now.

As the struggle for the lead in The Tribune's Great Automobile and Free Gift Election continues, and as public interest and enthusiasm and earnest support of candidates' friends come to the front, there is considerable speculation heard on all sides as to which contenders have the best chance for the $1,000 Essex Coach, the new Ford Roadster, the beautiful Phonograph, the lovely Suite of Furniture, the costly Bracelet Watches, and the other prizes.

Every section has its hard workers, some making their efforts known by heavy deposits of votes; others working diligently and quietly but getting there just the same.

With but two days after today in which to turn in subscriptions and job-ad tickets and secure the greatest number of votes for each turn-in, interest in the competition, and enthusiasm in the progress of the candidates in The Tribune's mammoth $2,500 grand prize distribution are growing by leaps and bounds.

Each candidate in the race realizes that the grand prizes representing $2,500 in actual cash—are practically within their reach to be claimed for their very own or forfeited to more aggressive opponents during the next few days, depending almost entirely upon their supreme efforts put forth while the BIG VOTES are allowed.

CANDIDATES MUST NOT HALT
 If the candidates halt now for a moment—if they slacken up or let their enthusiasm wane—if they overlook one opportunity to better their chances to win, they are taking the desperate risk of losing the big prizes already partially won and which actually belong to them. A candidate who fails to do his or her utmost during the remainder of this "period" is certain to bring dismal disappointment upon himself or herself, as well as upon their friends, who are naturally as interested in their success as the candidates themselves.

PERSONAL PRIDE NOTICEABLE
 A striking feature of the past few days is the personal pride that is becoming so noticeable. Several of the candidates have voiced their determination to win at all hazards. One declared that to accept defeat would be a disgrace. Another said she owed it to her friends who have helped her so loyally up to now to put forth every effort and draw on every resource to the extent that when the final day of reckoning comes, everything will have been done and nothing left undone to better her chances to win.

It is no doubt natural, with such interest being shown in the great race that some candidates would attempt to discourage others by circulating rumors more ingenious than accurate. Others hear of immense vote reserves stored "away" to dumbfound participants in the end, etc. But the tales one hears are so highly embellished, with frills so utterly inconceivable, that their untruthfulness is readily apparent. These exaggerated stories hurt no one but those who attempt to circulate them. The REAL candidates are those who are too busy either to listen to or to be bluffed by these would-be bluffers.

So, on the basis of personal honor, the competition is being waged earnestly. Shedding lustre on the inspiring sight in the civic pride manifesting itself. This mighty factor is the backbone behind the various candidates; in short, each community and each "set" are solidly behind their favorites and no community that values its reputation for doing things is going to let some-one else walk off with the most desirable prize when a little concerted effort will "bring it home."

LAST CHANCE FOR BIG VOTES.
 Never again, during the election, will it be possible to secure so many votes on subscriptions and tickets as between now and 12 o'clock, Saturday night, April 4th. To hold back subscriptions now or to depend upon "promises" to subscribe the last period simply means that you will be compelled to take the very least votes on those subscriptions and tickets. We are putting it up to you fairly and squarely. If you would be declared the winner of one of the big cars, you cannot possibly afford to let this BIG VOTE PERIOD and the LAST of the big votes pass without having done your best.

Votes on job and ad tickets next week will be worth just one-half as much as this week.

Now, during the last three days of the big opportunity period, you can make sure of being the winner of the big motor cars now waiting to be driven away by their "live wire" winners. BEAR IN MIND that you can pile up the WINNING VOTES THESE NEXT FEW DAYS.

MATHEMATICS PROVE IT.
 A little mathematics will prove to you the winning possibilities provided in this big vote period. Before this Saturday night, April 4th, a ten-year subscription to The Tribune will count 500,000 votes. A few of these would work wonders for anyone in the campaign.

And, in account of many candidates not receiving their tickets in time, last week's job and ad schedule supplants the one first announced for this week. Each $100.00 ticket earns this week over TWO MILLION votes—next week it will earn only one million. See schedule elsewhere.

CANDIDATES WARNED

Candidates are warned that this next-to-last period vote subscription schedule goes out of effect promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night, April 4th. Keep constantly in mind the fact that the big campaign closes forever one week from next Saturday night.

BIG VOTE THIS PERIOD

Turn-in day this week is not Friday, but Saturday. Turn-ins MAILED Saturday night will count in this period.

Just a mere handful of long-term subscriptions will be sufficient to put the candidate with the lowest score at the very top of the standings before Saturday night.

OFFICE OPEN UNTIL EIGHT P. M.

Election headquarters at The Tribune office are open each evening until 8 o'clock. Candidates who wish advice should make it a point to call at the office to have their questions answered and all are invited to consult the election manager on matters pertaining to the campaign.

The keener and most vigorous of work is necessary from now on if you hope to be declared one of the big prize winners. There's no way to win except by the hardest kind of work every minute of the time during the remaining few days of the campaign.

The Final Big Vote Period closes promptly at Midnight Saturday Night, April 4th.

CROSS STATE ROAD IS NOW BEING USED

Melbourne March 28.—East Coast to East Coast and West Coast to West Coast but now the twin shall meet: for the Melbourne-Kissimmee Cross-state road has been opened to traffic. Although all the paving in the St. John's river section has not been laid the highway is wholly passable and is improving every day.

In an editorial on the subject, the Miami Herald of March 12th says: "The statement that the road from Melbourne to Kissimmee has been opened to traffic is about as cheery a bit of news as the people of this section have heard for some time. With the rapid development of both coasts there is growing up a community of interests which makes transportation essential. Any new road which helps to bring the two coasts closer together, is of great value."

In the past few years the Melbourne-Kissimmee cross-state route has been much used, despite the almost impassable condition of the road and the unsatisfactory arrangement for transporting cars across the St. John's river. With the new highway through and the completion of a new bridge across the river, cross-state traffic will be greatly increased and traveling time considerably shortened.

Florida has been in a rather ridiculous position regarding travel between the coasts in the southern section of the state. Until now, cross-state traffic bound for Tampa and St. Petersburg was given the choice of detouring almost as far north as Jacksonville or braving the treacherous roads over the shorter route.

The completion of the Melbourne-Kissimmee Cross-state Highway will do much in strengthening the relationship between the east and west coasts. Cross-state traffic through Melbourne is already increasing at enormous rate, and when work on the road is entirely finished it will become one of the most popular highways in the entire state.

DEAD WOMAN'S BONES AT BENNETT'S TRIAL EXHIBITED IN COURT

Bennett, of Rome, Ga., and Mrs. Mae Bennett went on trial here today. Bennett, a railway official on leave of absence pending disposition of the charges against him, and his wife, were indicted by a Hamilton County grand jury on a charge of murdering Miss Hoffman's bones.

At the close of the opening day of the trials six witnesses had been examined.

Do Your Best Before Saturday Night, April 4

Real Work Talks Louder This Week Than It Will Next

Compare NOW and LATER

BECAUSE the vote values of subscriptions and job-ad. tickets drop to their lowest next week—the final week of the big drive—it is imperative that every credit that can possibly be secured should be roped in and turned in THIS WEEK, before Saturday night at 8 o'clock. (Credits mailed before midnights will count if received on Monday.)

The schedule to the right speaks for itself. Look at it. Heed it.

The biggest remaining period ends Saturday, April 4th, at midnight.

Subscription money will be received at The Tribune office up to and including Wednesday, April 8. After that date all money and tickets must be deposited in envelopes in the closed ballot box which will remain in the Peoples Bank of St. Cloud from Thursday until Saturday noon, when it will be brought to the Tribune office to remain until the judges break the seal at the close of the campaign, 8 p. m., April 11th.

No personal checks of any kind will be accepted in the Sealed Ballot Box, unless certified. Candidates must cash personal checks and use only currency, gold, silver, money orders or cashier's checks.

AGAIN WE SAY, "DO YOUR LEVEL BEST THIS WEEK."

Warning!

This Is the Last Week THAT EXTENSIONS Count BIG

All Club Members are warned that "extended" or "continued" subscriptions must be turned in THIS WEEK to count their highest.

A person who subscribed in the first period may this week EXTEND his subscription up to as much as TEN YEARS longer and the "extension" will count in the first period. The same rule applies to second period subscriptions.

But next week—the last and final period—only the regular (lowest) schedule will be used.

Suppose a man who subscribed one year in the first period desires to extend his subscription ten years longer this week it will earn 500,000 votes; next week, it will earn only 250,000 votes.

Suppose he subscribed in the first period and desires this week to extend it one year longer; the extension will count 18,000 votes. Next week it will count but 6,000.

All "extensions" should be so marked on the reports.

The same rule applies to votes on job-and-ad. tickets. The first schedule is continued this week; the second schedule will be used next week until the campaign closes. Clubs, however, counts just as announced throughout the campaign.

Make up your mind that the only thing that separates you from a motor car of your own is the time between now and the end of the campaign 9 days hence. DON'T LET IT BE INSUFFICIENT VOTES!

BISHOP QUAYLE—AN APPRECIATION

A word about an old friend by one who knew him well

(By Lomar Sheridan Warrick in the Epworth League)

Bishop Quayle is dead. Our great-hearted poet, in whose ears was always the sound of awingling prairie grasses, and murmuring far seas. Our great-hearted preacher in whose soul was ever a love of his fellow men and a glorying of God.

I remember his first visit to our Methodist manse. There were curious and hot-house roses all over the house in honor of his coming, but we children, who had just finished reading "In God's Out of Doors," were indignant over the artificiality of such a welcome. Nothing but wild flowers would do for Methodist's out-of-door man. So we hid ourselves out to Windsor Hills on the edge of town where we dug up early anemones, to replant them in a little green box and take home for a welcome to the bishop. I shall never forget his great, shaggy, red head bent over those poor little wilted wild flowers, nor the cordly words of his thank you.

Years later when we built a cottage fields that "Lake Beautiful," which Bishop Quayle has made famous in one of his exquisite nature books, we renewed acquaintance with this Welshman, who so curiously combined the nature of a husky outdoor man with the ways of a scholarly Lord Chesterfieldian. Bishop Quayle once invited us to our cottage on a fine Sunday. Bishop Quayle once invited us to our cottage on a fine Sunday. Bishop Quayle once invited us to our cottage on a fine Sunday.

How we loved him we neighbors of his beside Lake Beautiful! How we loved him as in his small boat he struck out into the lake on a stormy day. He fairly defied the elements. "Hut Drown me if you can!" How we loved him as we passed him perchance on one of his many solitary wanderings down the river paths where he held communion with the birch trees and the river rushes and the water fowl. How we loved him when on Sunday mornings he held his famous Bible class in the auditorium and kept a spell-bound by the power of his oratory. How we loved him as he gathered us about him in the cottage of an evening and with the firelight playing over his broad, freckled, deeply-lined, wonderful face told us tales of the sea or stories of the ministry.

There are those who disagreed with William Quayle's theology, and who thought that as a parliamentarian he was more of a humorist. "But when we got married or when we got buried," one of those said to me, "we'll send halfway across the continent to get him here."

I wonder how many letters of condolence that man has written. And how many letters of congratulation or words of cheer to someone who sorrowed because of him? He kept the troubles of a thousand friends locked away in his heart. But not a word of his own troubles, which were legion. He was, indeed, a "man of sorrows, acquainted with grief." Tragically touched that family again and again.

We have known for two years that he would leave us—and it grieved us so. Last summer he would sit out on the porch of his cottage, looking toward the lake which he loved—his pale, gaunt face lined with suffering, but his eyes quiet. We who knew that we were seeing him for the last time lingered about as much as we dared. Even our babies, instinctively loving him, would run up from their play in the sand to lay their hands in his and to look up smiling into his face.

His daughter tells me that she has seen him in those last feeble days going from one to another of the trees around the house, touching them with loving fingers, talking to them as he would talk to a human being. How he loved his trees, and his sea, and his prairie lands. How he loved his friends, and his family, and his brother ministers. In one of his recent books he has a chapter, a gorgeously beautiful, heart-breaking chapter—"Some Friends of Mine in Paradise."

They will rejoice to see him.

as you would have them do unto you. You must be kindly and sympathetic, and willing to share the joys and sorrows of those about you. You must take the trouble to do little things for them. You must sit by sick beds, and weep over little coffins, and remember anniversaries and personal favors and habits. You must be able to listen patiently while the self-centered talk about themselves and their own affairs.

Whenever you hear people complaining that they have no friends, you may know that it is simply because they refused to pay the price of friendship. In all their lives they have never done anything that endeared them to a single human being. They have never helped any one over a hard place. They have never given any love or tenderness or understanding to their fellow creatures, and so they are left lonely and desolate.

Do you want love? You must make yourself lovable. You must keep yourself interesting. You must be cheerful, amiable, pleasant to get along with.

There is nothing in a starchy, sloppy man or woman, or a tiresome bore to draw any one to him or her. There is nothing in a peevish, whining, nagging woman to win love. No body loves a man who is gruff and surly. Many people think they should be loved in spite of what they are, and so they lose out because they do not pay the price of love, which is loveliness.

Do you want a happy home? The price of that is domesticity. If you are a man, you must settle down and realize that you must give up the amusements of your bachelor days. You must sit by the fireside of an evening instead of in a poker game. You must feel that it is just as much a part of your duty to keep your wife happy and cheerful as it is to feed and clothe her. You must control your temper and your nerves, and learn how to handle your wife diplomatically, instead of by force.

If you are a woman, you must make a home that is comfortable, and set good food before your family, and learn to be thrifty and economical. You must keep your worries to yourself, and wear the smile that won't come off. You must deny yourself the joy of nagging and of answering back, and reminding your husband of his faults, and that you told him so when things go wrong.

Every man and woman want a happy home, but not many are willing to pay the price of self-control to get it.

Do you want your children to grow into fine men and women? The price of that is self-sacrifice.

You must be willing to give up to them about twenty years of your life, for it is by incessant watchfulness, never-ceasing guidance, lesson upon lesson, and precept upon precept, that childish characters are formed, and little feet turned into the right path.

It is because so many fathers and mothers are unwilling to pay the heavy price of parenthood that so many boys and girls go astray.

And so it goes through life. For what we get we must pay.

FLORIDA'S POPULATION

The new census now being taken in Florida will give our state a population of about 3,250,000 if the increase in the total number of people in the state has kept pace with that of children of school age, according to statisticians who have made calculations as to the state's growth during the last four and a half years. During the four year period from 1921 to 1924 the estimated school population, based on the natural expected increase and on figures furnished in some cases by county superintendents of public instruction, increased from 292,285 to 336,939, or 15.3 per cent. The present number of children of school age is reckoned as 350,000 or about 29 per cent over the federal census of 1920, counting those of age from 6 to 21.

OUR GIFTS TO JUSTICE. DEFECTIVE TEETH AND HANDS. OUR FEEBLE IMAGINATION. NEIGHBORLY NATIONS.

A man in the Sing Sing death house, sentenced to die next month, hangs himself. Doctors work over him for hours, trying to bring him back to life. The interesting feature of this death in the death house is the violent effort to resuscitate the man after he had strangled himself. The law said he must die, why not let him die?

What do the higher powers above think of the corpses that we send up from our gullews, electric chairs and lethal chambers? How much better does our civilization seem up there than that of the ancient Mexicans that ripped out the heart of a living human sacrifice, offering that as a welcome gift to their gods?

How do our gifts to the goddess of justice impress real justice?

The French army has tested and approved a new stabilizing device for airplanes, without the use of a gyroscope. That means one step nearer to absolutely safe flying, safer than any mode of travel on land.

Ten to twenty years should see the end of long distance rail travel and of ocean surface travel. Wise real estate investors will make their plans with the flying machine in mind.

The British worry because the national eyesight grows weaker. One hundred and fifty in every 1,000 lack good sight at the age of twenty and ten at the age of four.

The Prince of Wales, whom Americans recently made very welcome, is interested in a plan to send British students to this country. That is common sense as well as a pleasant compliment.

The Rhodes scholarship system, that now sends American boys to British universities, will be reversed in the new plan. The way to establish peace is to increase intelligence. When nations know each other, they will compete instead of fighting.

There is disappointment because the British Church can't find a way to make a saint of Florence Nightingale, and supply her with a halo. The answer to that is that Florence Nightingale is a saint already, and needs no halo.

When she went to Santari, with her group of devoted nurses, to save from needless death the wounded men in the Crimea, sticking at her work, although prostrated with fever, she made herself a saint. Nothing that the Archbishop of Canterbury might do would make her saintliness more genuine than it is.

TAX ASSESSORS OF STATE CO-OPERATE

Tallahassee, March 23.—County Tax Assessors of Florida are going to co-operate to the fullest extent with Gov. John W. Martin in his campaign to equalize the tax burden of the State, according to a number of letters received by the Governor from tax assessors who were present and heard the Governor's message delivered at a special conference in Jacksonville on March 6th.

"Replies received so far are most encouraging," Governor Martin said late today in discussing the matter of taxation.

A number of letters of congratulation also have been received by the chief executive concerning his attitude in his campaign for the equalization of taxation, as outlined in his Jacksonville message.

DIVORCE GRANTED BY TEXAS, VOID IN N. Y., SUPREME COURT RULES

New York, March 2.—The divorce Texas courts granted Archibald B. Gwathmey, cotton broker, from Isabelle Coomes Gwathmey last year is void in New York, Supreme Court Justice Levy held today.

The opinion was rendered in connection with Mrs. Gwathmey's suit for separation on grounds of abandonment and non-support. She was denied a divorce last June by Justice Davis, and Gwathmey, obtaining a decree in Texas, married Mrs. Betsey C. Judd in Connecticut on July 4. Mrs. Judd was named co-respondent in Mrs. Gwathmey's first suit.

Mrs. Gwathmey, through counsel, contended that the Texas law forbids marriage within a year after the granting of a divorce and sought to prevent official recognition of the divorce here.

NEW ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S WEAKNESS IS PIE FOR BREAKFAST

Written Specially for The Tribune By ROBERT FULLER

Washington, April 1.—Physically, the new Attorney-General of the United States, John Garibaldi Sargent of Ludlow, Vt., is the Abraham Lincoln type. He stands 6 feet 6 inches tall. He has a wide rugged forehead and an intelligent brow. His personal appearance is that of a well-dressed man—but never in his life has he been accused of being a fashion plate. He seldom wears an overcoat when in the daily rounds on his native hills—the sudden appointment to the national post by President Coolidge, brought into his life the third topcoat that he has ever owned so soon.

Perhaps this too will help tell the reader about the man, John Sargent. He wears a size 14 shoe.

He smokes a pipe—slug, corned or betar.

His favorite sport is pitching horseshoes.

—And he must have pie for breakfast—pumpkin preferred.

"Just the usual Vermont family," said both the Attorney-General and Mrs. Sargent—when the quiet and peacefulness of their every day home life in the small town of Ludlow was suddenly and unexpectedly interrupted by the news from Washington that the President had turned to his home state for a cabinet choice. Pleased, yes, both of them—but the honor failed to excite them, nor did the prospects of living in Washington bring any great thrill. They had been happy always in Ludlow—to Ludlow they will return when they have helped a fellow Vermonter finish the job of running the government.

The Sargent Policy

The Attorney-General has many personal views—all broad and liberal. He has ever indulged the greatest tolerance in matters pertaining to the personal liberties of his fellowmen. However, he has always planned himself firmly on the ground that laws should be obeyed—however prescriptive they may be—and this, he says, will continue to be his policy as Attorney-General of the United States.

In his youth, the Attorney-General was quite an athlete, playing football and baseball on school and college teams. Now however, his play moments are spent trying for "ringers" with horseshoes.

The failure of the Senate to confirm the appointment of Warren of Michigan, to the post as Attorney-General and the sudden right-about-face of the President in quickly picking Mr. Sargent for the post; the quick vote of the Senate confirming the choice, and his sudden calling to Washington, brought into the life of the Vermontier several new experiences with a suddenness that almost startled him.

Meets "Man at Arms"

No sooner had Mr. Sargent arrived at the White House, than Col. Starling of the White House Secret Service force was assigned as a personal body guard. His first day in Washington he started on a round of personal and official calls—to be accompanied every where by Col. Starling. It was a rather Mark Twain situation, from the new Attorney-General's point of view. He jokingly remarked that inasmuch as he had been taking care of himself all his life, he wondered why at this late day it was necessary to have a "man at arms" at his heels. He was glad, however, to have the Colonel as a guide in his getting about.

About that pie for breakfast, the Attorney-General says it's always been dear in their family and that it is his chief weakness. Asked as to what kind of pie was his favorite, he said:

"Personally, I lean a little to pumpkin, but I'll frankly confess that pie of all description, and whatever their component parts—have always met with my favor. From my early boyhood I have eaten and enjoyed it most at breakfast. The times that it has been omitted from the Sargent's breakfast are few and far between."

And Mrs. Coolidge saw to it that pie was on the breakfast menu at the White House while he was a guest there.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

Health is bought only with self-denial; love with loveliness; wealth with work; friends with friendliness; home and children with self-sacrifice.

There is no more difficult truth for human beings to accept than we must pay for everything we get in this world. Life runs no layaway table, and has no cut-rate sales. Everything in the shop has its fixed price written upon it in plain figures that all may read, for the shoddy. High for the best. But we must pay value received for what we get.

Do you want health? You must pay for it with continual self-denial. You must curb your appetites and do without many of the things that you like to eat and drink. You must go to bed at night instead of going on wild parties. You must take plenty of exercise in the fresh air.

Nearly all of our sickness we bring upon ourselves. It is because we are self-indulgent and lazy that we grow fat and diabetic, and rheumatic, and the happy hunting ground for every germ that comes along. Practically all of us could be strong and well if only we were willing to pay the price for good health.

Do you wish to be rich? The price of that is labor and thrift. You must put your heart and your back into your job. You must toil while other people play. You must spend your afternoons in your office instead of on the golf links, and concentrate your mind on your business problems instead of trying to work out a new shot. You must put the money in the bank that other men and women fritter away on foolish pleasures and indulgences.

There are millions upon millions of people who are poor and dependent in their old age because they were not willing to pay the price of prosperity. They were not willing to work hard enough to make real money, and they were too weak to resist the temptation of spending all they did make as they went along.

Do you want friends? The price of friendship is doing unto others

Ideals and Interests Change All Through Life

The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of St. Cloud—and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

ST CLOUD TRIBUNE

Published Every Thursday By the ST. CLOUD TRIBUNE COMPANY
CLAUD F. JOHNSON, President
Entered as Second-class Mail Matter April 24th, 1910, at the Postoffice at St. Cloud, Florida, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

It is said that figures don't lie, but that liars often figure. Now watch some of the good Florida towns yell about the figures that will be produced on the new stage census report.

The St. Cloud Tribune's circulation has grown to be the largest of any paper between Orlando and Lakeland in this section, and exceeds nearly every paper in the state, except the big dailies.

It sounds good to hear the hammers tearing down that old Pifer house to make way for additions to the Johnson block that is to fill up the west side of New York avenue between Tenth and Eleventh streets.

The Tribune will soon have an automatic press to take care of the rapidly increasing business in our publishing department. An order was given this week to rush us one of the self-feeding machines from Atlanta, and we are going to ask our friends to come in and see it work.

Our Pennsylvania avenue girl is getting jealous of our New York Ave. girl, and told us this week that they would stop giving opinions on public improvements unless forthwith we induced the city commissioners to put that extra light at Ninth and Pennsylvania avenue. Now what are we going to do about this?

St. Cloud has been shot from the air! Yes, the Chamber of Commerce had an aerial photograph made to be used in their new booklet. Some years ago the St. Cloud Tribune printed the first aerial photos ever made in the state, three views showing parts of the city, and later on several other towns followed suit. Now it's being used by real estate dealers to show "the lay of the land" as no maps made by artists could do.

THE SPECTATOR

By H. H. DEPRIEST

IMPRESSIONS OF ST. CLOUD

The things which impress me most about Saint Cloud are not its buildings or material things, but its people and the atmosphere created by these people.

Something indefinable about the place has gripped me—drawn me to it like a magnet—made me like it and esteem it far above most of the other towns I have ever known, East or West, North or South.

It has been my pleasure to make here some very splendid friendships—to know some very wonderful personalities.

I said in a previous article that I was forcibly struck with Saint Cloud's resemblance to the West. The analogy applies even to the people and the spirit of the people.

Like the far West, Saint Cloud, as of course practically all of Florida, attracts people from all over America, and is thus a meeting ground of progressive men and women, who are on the move and out in search for more favorable conditions of life.

This unity of objectives tends to create here the Western atmosphere of liberality, broadmindedness and tolerance.

In Saint Cloud one meets scores of people who have done noteworthy things in the world, lived in remote corners of the planet, traveled in every land and over every sea.

Only yesterday I was wrapping experiences with Col. S. J. Barthelemy, who now enjoys a quiet retirement near Naxos, but who has traversed many of the same paths that I did in Alaska and sailed along by the northern Pacific glaciers which retard the aurora borealis.

Nearly every person you meet is from "somewhere else," and packs a story that is far from commonplace. At dinner today I met an old soldier of the sixties, who was once an instructor of Fighting Bob LaFollette.

Another old soldier, Mr. G. W. Penn, was wounded in the Civil war alongside of Gen. Rutherford B. Hayes, who was also wounded at the same time, and the two were carried to the same hospital. Mr. Penn bears a war order signed by Gen. Hayes and a personal letter from the general written in his own handwriting, after he became President of the United States.

Every night at the St. Cloud Hotel I enjoy seeing Dr. D. C. Huffman, of McKeesport, Pa., playing cards; the doctor has such a pleasant smile when he is winning. He was in the Civil war and afterward was, for years, the head surgeon of the great government hospital at Dayton, Ohio. And so on, indefinitely. I could fill a column with the names of interesting personalities in St. Cloud.

I enjoy talking with the "old boys," many of whom are old enough to be my father's father. Every one of them is interesting, if only from the standpoint of the scientist, who sees in each one a certain "survival of the fittest"—a physical persistence of cell and tissue, which enabled them not only to survive four years of war, but also to survive the innumerable attacks of disease germs throughout a long life. They are, therefore, all of them "picked men," and in a very decided physical sense, "superior" to most of their fellow mortals.

Moreover, these old soldiers who founded Saint Cloud are Americans of a superlative and unadulterated kind. They are Americans of the old Nordic stock, who founded and pioneered our great country.

Saint Cloud is as typical an American town as can be found in the United States, with all of those earmarks that are so characteristically American, such as spas, theatres, movies, public library, chamber of commerce, and good schools and churches.

There is a marked absence of foreigners and people of alien blood. There is not a colored family living inside of the incorporate limits of the town!

THE CLIMATE

I have been surprised at the mildness of the Florida winter climate and at the coolness of the spring. I am told on every hand that the summers are far more pleasant than a Northerner would believe, and that the summer nights are delightful.

The preponderance of sunny days is also a revelation. All nature seems to be in a conspiracy to produce high spirits.

Small wonder that Florida is attracting increasing thousands of settlers, now that the world is finally finding out about its marvels of climate and the richness of its material resources.

A TRIP TO KENANSVILLE

Osceola county is a big county. Some idea of its size may be gained by making the trip from St. Cloud to the county's southernmost town, Kenansville, 80 miles distant, over the trail toward Okeechobee.

I made the trip in two hours, which is good time, considering the sandy nature of the road and the "wild and woolly" prairie country, with cattle roaming all about and in the highway.

Although for at least twenty miles of the way on a dead stretch there is not a house to be seen, one is seldom far from the sight of cattle between the suburbs of St. Cloud and the center of Kenansville.

It is a wonderful stretch of level virgin land, untouched by plow or harrow. About fourteen miles from St. Cloud one leaves the last house on the way south, that of a rancher who gets his mail at St. Cloud. Now and then we meet cowboys on horseback and in typical garb. Baccos, fates, opossums, wild turkey and quail abound. It is a hunter's paradise.

At Kenansville, on the Okeechobee-New Smyrna branch of the Florida East Coast Railway, one finds a fine lumber plant and an important turpentine distillery, both owned by Mr. P. Tomassella, with a pioneer, western-appearing settlement, which will some day grow into greatness.

I meet the Phillips brothers, successful pioneers and the original owners of the turpentine plant. They came from the county of Coconino, next door to my old stamping ground in North Carolina. It is a joy to meet these boys, who have hundreds of people that I know, and it is like making friends with kinfolk.

Then I meet Mr. P. Tomassella, that kindly pioneer of lumbering, agriculture and grain raising, who was one of a group of men from southern America and he has discovered the "big" thing in Florida, and he is so happy that he wants to share with me the story of his success.

It is a pleasure to meet a man of Mr. Tomassella's caliber so far from the bustling centers of civilization. He is splendidly educated in English, French, Spanish and Italian, and reads classic literature as a diversion, when not looking after his extensive business interests.

It was a pleasure also to meet his cultured and energetic daughter, Mrs.

CELEBRATE FORTY-FIRST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miner of Waboon Lake and St. Cloud, Fla., celebrated their forty-first wedding anniversary Monday, March 30th at their home here, having invited some of their neighbors who reside here, also Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Thomas from their home town, who have spent the past winter in St. Cloud, and Miss S. E. Pike, a friend from New York City, to help them commemorate the occasion.

At noon the guests were served by the host and hostess to a bountiful, chicken dinner, with all the good things that go with it, including fruit salad, and ice cream as a dessert. After the dinner was heartily enjoyed by all the company was entertained with reminiscences of the many interesting experiences that came to these two, after their first acquaintance began, when Mr. Miner came from his native state (Pennsylvania) found his life mate in Michigan, the joyful host told some humorous stories of their courtship days which were flatly denied by Mrs. Miner, her blushing caused considerable merriment.

Every one had a good time and in leaving expressed a wish that Mr. and Mrs. Miner might live to celebrate their diamond anniversary and that they might be there to help them.

The Miners have been in St. Cloud two winters and one summer and are now planning to return to their Michigan home in April, coming back again in the early fall.

Mr. Miner is a bachelor for St. Cloud, in deed, as well as word. Having sold his place on Missouri avenue he has bought a much larger property on the same avenue in the Deepwater Addition to St. Cloud, beside purchasing several lots in other parts of the city. Mr. Miner has entered into the social and religious life of the place with earnest enthusiasm and marked ability. He is now president of the Michigan Association and an active member in the W. C. T. U. In church work she has been very efficient and at present is secretary of the large Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church, and an active member of the different church societies, and will be greatly missed thru the summer. We hope these good people will return to their southern home with the first frost kisses the Michigan forests, and birds gather for a long trip to Florida.

ST. LUKE'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Sixth (Palm Sunday in Lent, April 5th. Subject: Tests of the Efficacy of Redemption for Ourselves. The first test shown by Obedience. Text: I John 2: 3. And hereby know we that we know Him, if we keep His commandments.

Analysis of Text Do we know God? Do we recognize that we know Him? We recognize that we know Him if we keep His commandments. It is not to keep His commandments as we keep a dead deposit. In Christ Jesus the soul of the commandment is love out of a pure heart and a pure conscience, and faith unfeigned.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Next Monday evening is the regular monthly business of the church and all members are requested to be present as an important business is to be considered. We hope to be able to start remodeling our Church building within the next few weeks.

Next Sunday the pastor will preach the sixth and last sermon on the Second Coming of Christ. The subject will be: "The Objections Considered." The lesson for the Whosoever-Will Bible Class which meets at 9:30 A. M. will be Psal. 10.

Next Sunday will also be beginning of the fifth year of the present pastorate. During this time the Church has built and paid for the parsonage and plans are on foot now to enlarge the Church to take care of the growing congregations. 134 have been received into the fellowship of the church in of these by baptism. The pastor has also been called to officiate at 26 funerals. The Sunday School has grown from about 30 four years ago to around 150.

Many of our tourist friends are leaving for their northern homes, others will be going in the near future but we hope that they will be spared to return again in the early fall.

WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Be it resolved: That this organization place on record our recognition of the serious loss sustained by the Society in the death of Sister Sarah Howard.

Mrs. Howard, from her young days has been associated with the Methodist Church and occupied in its various activities. Shortly after coming to St. Cloud in 1910, she became a member of the newly organized Livingston Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church. She joined our Woman's Home Missionary Society and has always displayed intense interest and zeal in its work.

We shall miss her presence, her prayers and her kindly help. We extend our heart felt sympathy to those who were so near and dear to her in family ties, especially her daughter, Mrs. Fern Adams, and pray that God's care and protection may be felt by this bereaved one in this hour of trial.

Respectfully submitted, Committee, MRS. C. J. MIZEN, MRS. L. M. COX, MRS. N. W. BEAUCHAMP, MRS. FLORA COX.

WM. R. HELMS

The funeral of Comrade Wm. R. Helms was held at the Baptist church last Friday morning and the service was very largely attended by the Veterans of the Civil War as well as friends and members of the church of which he was a faithful member until the time of his death.

He was born May 25, 1843 and died March 24, 1925. Age 82 years, nine months and 25 days. He enlisted at Findlay, Ohio in Co. 1 Ohio Vol. Inf. Sept. 10, 1861, and was honorably discharged at Louisville, La., Nov. 27, 1864, having been a faithful servant of his country during the entire war.

He was married to Sarah Benedict Nov. 15, 1860 who later died Oct. 30, 1903. Two daughters were born to this union.

He married Sarah P. Tarristillo, Sept. 10, 1916, who gave him wonderful care and attention during those latter years of his life.

He is survived by the widow and two daughters, Mrs. Whitcomb of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Brown of Detroit, Mich.

He will be greatly missed by friends upon the street as well as in the church of which he was a member. Although confined to his wheel-chair for many years yet he was always cheerful and bore his affliction with great patience always ready to say "Praise the Lord" and bear testimony to His goodness wherever he had the opportunity. He was conscious to the very end and seemed to feel that the Lord was calling him only a few moments before his departure. HIS PASTOR

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The annual congregational supper and meeting was attended with fair success. Every one attending enjoyed a good repast. A series of good reports from the organizations of the Church were heard and accepted. On the whole the reports showed progress.

The congregation elected one new elder and two trustees. Brother T. M. James was elected to the eldership in this church. He, having been ordained to that office before coming here, will require only the installation service. JOLLY CROWD TOURISTS MET SATURDAY A. M.

Saturday, March 28, the jolly crowd, Hollywood Get-to-Gather Bunch, that first met Monday morning, Jan. 5th at the Saint Cloud Hotel, when the bus started upon the five days trip to Hollywood by-the-Sea, gathered again at 12 o'clock at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lisle, New York ave. and 6th street. All tourists know how well equipped you winter apartments are, when even one extra is entertained under difficulties. But when there is a will, one can always find a way. By joining tables, spicing linen, asking favors of your best neighbors for the loan of extra china and silver, and making good use of a lumber yard near by, much can be accomplished. Sixteen out of the twenty-two, (eight having said good bye) sat down at 1 o'clock to a most beautiful lunch, which Misses Lisle and Muller had prepared. After doing justice to sandwich, four different salads, Boston baked beans, pickles, relishes, cheese, mince and apple pie, cake in plenty, tea and coffee, toasts were given. Jokes were exchanged, and three cheers were given for the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Lisle. Then on the wide steps in front of cottage with Mr. U. G. Stator of Hollywood and Mrs. Winifred Kimball a snap shot was taken, and from the oldest to the youngest, (Mr. Oliver N. Smith and Miss Edna Siegle). It will always be a beautiful remembrance of a most wonderful trip and the ending of a perfect day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lisle, of Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, of Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Muller of New York; Mr. and Mrs. George Redman, of Indiana; Mrs. Clara Gage, of Michigan; Mrs. Lella Goodrich, of Maine; Mrs. Florence C. Redford, of Ohio; Miss Annie Manshoff, of Penna.; Miss Dora Siegle, Mr. Wm. Siegle, of Michigan; Mr. Oliver N. Smith of Illinois, and Mr. J. Wm. Homey, of New York; eight states being represented. By June 1st all will have said farewell and returned to their northern homes. But most if not all, have been in Florida long enough to get sand in their shoes, and by January 1st, 1926, will find their way to Saint Cloud, the Wonderful City of U. S. A.

CROKER WILL CASE ARGUMENTS CLOSED

Jacksonville, March 23.—Arguments in the Croker will case, in which the children of Richard Croker, late Tammany Hall leader, seek to annul the bequest of Croker's Palm Beach estate to his widow, Mrs. Beulah Croker, were completed in federal court here late today, and Judge Rhydton M. Call took the case under advisement.

Howard Croker, Richard Croker, Jr., and Ethel Croker White, the children, charge that the estate was doled out unlawfully by Richard Croker, Sr., to his wife. They set forth in their complaint that the estate in (Palm Beach was the family homestead at the time of Croker's death in Ireland, and granted a Florida Supreme Court decision which held that a married man with living widow could not deed his estate to his wife and that she is entitled only to her dower.) Mrs. Croker's attorneys contended that the facts stated in the complaint are not true and that the property is the property of the estate. The Croker will case is expected to be decided by the Supreme Court.

SALLIE SINGS—TO HIDE THE TEARS

Up to that time, at the thought of having thrown away his love, I had let my sentiment get the upper hand. But when I realized that he had seen the tear I hadn't meant to shed, the knowledge jerked me up and my pride, inherited from a long line of hot-headed ancestors, returned.

I made myself laugh. "See, I'm still running after you," I explained, "but it's because I'm afraid you were seriously considering not taking me home. I've heard of girls walking home before but not—shhh, this is funny."

He turned and regarded me with puzzled brow. It was a good thing for me that the gathering twilight hid the deep hurt in my eyes.

"Come on, be a sport and take me home. I know it's risking your reputation but maybe you'll be spared as the kindly dark will cover us when we get to town."

He shook his head slowly, almost apologetically as if the whole thing were beyond his power of interpretation.

The drive home began. After I saw that he was determined not to speak a word and the broken silence had lasted for a few miles, I could stand it no longer. My nerves were on edge.

"If you don't carry on a merry conversation with me, I'll be forced to sing," I said.

"Go ahead," still staring fixedly at the road.

My voice had been trained. I've always loved to sing. I can't remember a single day having passed when I had not, at some time during its twenty-four hours, burst into song. My voice, while not big, has a quality that most people pretend to like. My professor called it a man's voice.

"That's what you need," he had told me when I had misadvised lessons or was indifferent about my scales. "You need experience. A real lover, marriage, babies. One must live before they can express anything of beauty with a voice."

When I thought of his words now, he laughed.

"I thought you were going to sing," said a voice at my side, please do," he urged.

"What'll it be—Kaplan, Jazz or McNeil Comedy?"

"Not Jazz," he implored. "I'm sorry of my inability to be in the same innocent mood."

He hadn't figured on the fact that I was a splendid actress trained by the insincerity necessarily practiced in society by any girl who goes about.

A little pause, then I sang as I never had before and because the songs I chose were sad, they better suited the throbbing timbre of my soul.

And then—it was a during thing—about I sang Cyril Scott's "Lullaby."

When I was half way through, I heard the sound of gritting teeth at my side.

"That's the matter, is it all that sad?" I've known my singing to have been to drink but I didn't realize it.

"God's sake, Sallie, when you put your hand on a worm, aren't you supposed to turn it over?"

"You know your voice is lovely but your argument too with pictures of worms that might have been?" he asked. "Sometimes I think you are a little bit without a heart."

"I drove under the porte cochere, I came from every window of the house. Ellie had returned and there was a sound of music. Out came several cars.

"What party was on?"

"Good bye," he said.

"I've been to see your father."

"Well, I can't say she added any sparks to my afternoon," Ellie replied.

"Tell you what, Sallie, I'm showing off soon for the gay and reckless port known as Miami. What about joining me on my lark?"

"I'm not invited, Ellie, you're going to visit the Divines, I only know Mrs. Divine slightly and Muriel wouldn't think of having me down."

"Don't get cross' feet over that," Ellie said. "The Divines haven't had yachts and Italian villas so long that they aren't glad to whoop up acquaintances with those who've been in that sort of business for some length of time. In other words, Sallie, I'm going because one has a marvelous time at the Divines and not because I think that Mrs. Divine ever held a charter membership in the Colonial Dames."

"I couldn't help but laugh. 'You want to do a jazzy get-a-way and show the whole town you aren't pining your head off while Sir Curtiss wins and dines the original out.'"

"Yes, Ellie, you're right, I couldn't stand that. You see no one ever bothered much about Anne before and now I just couldn't bear the humiliation of her grabbing off Curtiss Wright."

"Then you will go?" she said excitedly.

"Of course I will," and I jumped out of bed and hugged her tight.

I have made arrangements to go to the Club."

"I started toward the house. I could not utter one other word."

"Sallie," he had followed swiftly. "Will you please do something for me?"

I nodded, still dumb.

Sallie Learns a Subtle Lesson is Busy

"Give me that rose," there was simple entreaty in his voice.

"I had forgotten that I had worn one until he reminded me by touching the single red petals of the half-opened bud I had pinned on my coat collar as I left the house."

Again I nodded my consent, not daring to trust my voice. He unfurled the flower, stood for a moment with it in his hand, then turning, walked slowly into the night.

I had reached my room unobserved and later heard Ellie's callers depart. There's something about the blue time of the night—that mystic hour in Florida when daytime is denning her mantle of purple chiffon—that induces confidences from lonely hearts. I was glad when Ellie opened the door and bounded into sight.

"Well, I brought home the celluloid poker," she exclaimed, curling comfortably on the chaise longue at the foot of the bed. "Yep, just about as useful," she hurried on. "If another hostess gives me a perfume bottle, I'll have to open a drugstore to accommodate them, all—wait a minute—now what's in the air. Why the storm signals, my erstwhile sport?"

"Oh Ellie, I'm so miserable, I could just die," and then I told her all.

Ellie was loyal and I knew my secrets would stay locked in her heart. When I came to the end of my story, she exclaimed,

"There's been dirty work at cross-roads. WHO told Curtiss about the untimely bath, to say nothing of the honest debt you paid the Schyler lad from New York."

I sat bolt upright. That was a phase of the situation I hadn't figured out. In fact, I had been so upset over the conversation with Curtiss, that the details had seemed of no value in summing up our talk.

"Ellie," I shouted out, "I have it! Wait—you came Sunday afternoon. The party was on Saturday night. You told me you had passed Curtiss with a girl. Describe that girl!"

"Cherchez la femme?" she asked in one of her few French phrases. "In this case, it is not necessary."

"Why, what do you mean, Ellie, do be serious," I was almost hysterical now.

Immediately, she became more serious when she saw there was no use trying to make light of the event.

"It's just this, the same Uly-white character played bridge at my table the whole afternoon and disapproved thoroughly of your little guest's informal and gala air."

"They called her—Anne?"

"They called her—Anne?"

"I knew it, I knew it, I knew it," I cried, "she's done it all!"

"You don't mean to say she spilled the article that gave Boston such fame?" Ellie was indignant and fell back into her usual expressive slang.

"That isn't being done in these here parts."

Marjorie had said that Anne would go to any lengths to win Curtiss Wright. She had proved it now without a doubt.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" Ellie asked. "Take my advice and if your proud and haughty architect prefers that type my advice and if your proud and haughty prefers that type, lay off."

"Oh, but Ellie, you don't understand," I tried to explain, "she isn't bold about it. She's so darn subtle that she can put a thing like that over Curtiss Wright without him suspecting that she meant to be the least bit unkind. I know Anne."

"Well, I can't say she added any

MR. AND MRS. GRISWOLD HAVE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

It was discovered that Saturday, March 21st, was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Griswold, of Agra, Okla., and some of their friends at the Fry Apartments planned a little surprise in celebration of the happy event.

The unsuspecting bride and groom were beguiled into a neighbor's apartment, where they found a little company waiting to offer heartfelt congratulations and best wishes. A wedding cake all bright with 50 lighted candles was the center of the decorative effect, the lights were softened by yellow shades, and immense yellow bows ornamented the chairs to which the guests of honor were escorted.

Mr. and Mrs. Griswold were presented with a bouquet of beautiful roses and a handsome gold head chain. Cake and ice cream were served, and a pleasant time spent in story-telling. The bride and groom contributed some real thrillers in this line in the way of their own experiences in pioneer days in Oklahoma.

Mr. Griswold is a Civil War veteran, and recently passed his eightieth birthday. Mrs. Griswold's twin sister, Mrs. Ibsen, is staying with them. The ladies resemble one another most strikingly.

Three Million Dollar Hotel On the Ocean Beach HOLLYWOOD BY-THE-SEA

Florida's Year-Round Resort City

Preliminary work has started on the magnificent 500-room hotel—to be erected on the ocean beach at Hollywood By-the-Sea at a cost of $3,000,000.

The new hotel, to be finished January 1, 1926, will have an ocean frontage of 520 feet on the Broad Walk, and an approximate depth of 200 feet. To the west will be the Ocean Beach Highway, the Inland Waterway, and the two Hollywood Artificial Lakes—the largest in Florida—all contributing to the decorative beauty that is being built into that section.

A novel feature of the new building—one that will add much to the convenience of the guests, as well as to the motorists driving through Hollywood By-the-Sea—will be an arcade running through the building from east to west. On either side of the arcade there will be a series of exclusive specialty shops.

Above the grade or ground floor will be the lobby floor, approached by wide easy stairs, or by one of the three high-speed electric elevators with which the hotel will be equipped. On the lobby floor will be a lounge with large French windows on the north, south and ocean sides, giving a wonderful view of the ocean and Broad Walk.

On either side of the lounge will be large porches, protected by bright colored awnings. A tea room will be provided directly adjoining the main lounge. A magnificent pipe organ will be one of the features of the main lounge.

The main dining hall will accommodate 800 at one time, and will be located on the lobby floor. The floors above will be devoted to the bedrooms—500 in all—every one a large outside room with private bath, and nearly all overlooking the ocean. Room service will be provided.

The building will be strictly fire-proof, and protected by every modern device used in hotel building.

The new beach hotel is but one unit of many that has made Hollywood By-the-Sea, the miracle city of Florida—the city that in three years has built its hotels, streets and boulevards, public utilities and business houses.

Hollywood By-the-Sea is generally proclaimed to be Florida's greatest development.
